GENIALNA EPOKA

*For the cat who stretches under the vermilion sun of that peculiar town. For the nameless July nights the colour of stained-glass roses. For the hidden seasons, their subtle decay and luxuriant luminosity.
For the delicate architecture of a bird's wing, the lost decrepitude of ancient alleyways and the wanton whispers of backroom salesmen.
For Bruno Schulz, Heresiarch of This Hermetic Legislature, Demiurge and Animator of Abject Materials, Child of Imaginary Time, and Cartographer of Myth, with our Admiration & Esteem.*

'Let's return to the Authentic. We have never forsaken it. And here we must stress a characteristic of the script, which by now no doubt has become clear to the reader: it unfolds while being read, its boundaries open to all currents and fluctuations.'
